

Second Place: Integri Kitchens

The clients desired a space that was ideal for everyday living and a great entertaining space—a look that was both crisp and clean and warm and inviting. The transitional look achieves this. The windows framing the stainless range and hood provide beautiful light yet were a design challenge as their placement was critical to the overall plan in terms of balance. The range and hood are centered between the windows framed by stacked cabinets from the counter to the ceiling. The kitchen is chock-full of pot drawers, pull-outs and a recycling/waste centre. The centre island has a thicker countertop providing wow factor along with plenty of seating.
